

In the event a parcel of land under the same ownership contains an odd number of non-conforming lots, the lots must be recombined to create the maximum number of conforming lots leaving no more than one non-conforming lot.

In the event a parcel of land under the same ownership contains an even number of non-conforming lots, the lots must be recombined to create the maximum number of conforming lots.

